

GREAT FIRES.—A terrible conflagration recently swept over a portion of the City of Augusta, Maine. From Passenger Bridge to Winthrop street and from the river to above the railroad track is a smoking mass of ruins.

The storage rooms 505 Cherry street, and the bonded stores No. 750 Water street, both occupied by A. M. Lawrence, took fire on the 18th inst. and were destroyed. Loss $8,000,000. Nine thousand bales of cotton were consumed, also 11,000 bags sugar, 4,000 bales hemp, 750 bales jute, 2500 bales gunny cloth, 350 tons junk, and 800 bales East India cotton.

HYMENIAL.

MARRIED, on the morning of the 17th Sept. by Rev. A. D. L. Moser, Mr. W. F. Suter to Miss Elizabeth F. Eyring both of Lexington Dist. S. O.

OBITUARY.

The theme is old—
Of "dust to dust," but half its tale untold.

Emma J. Goggins, daughter of Daniel and Emily Goggins, Newberry District, died at the residence of her father, on the 18th inst., of Congestive Fever, in the twenty-third year of her age.

When the King beheld the handwriting upon the wall, his terror arose, not from what he saw, but from what he could not see; for he was unable to discern the body to which the hand belonged. It is so in death. Our fears arise, not from what we know, but from what we do not know. To the Christian all things are revealed; the grave is divested of its terrors and "Death is swallowed up in victory."

Several years previous to her death the deceased connected herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church. She was ever assiduous in promoting the welfare of others; constant in the discharge of both spiritual and temporal duties, and true to her God whom she professed and loved. In her last illness she was resigned and submissive. Gathering all her strength a few hours before the cold hand of death was laid upon her, she sang "Rest for the weary," and to a friend who stood weeping by her side, she spoke words of comfort and said, "It is not hard to die." Or her approaching dissolution she seemed serene, and met her destiny with Christian fortitude, for amidst her sufferings and the struggle between life and death, a Spirit presided that prompted her in all this to say "Thy will be done; Even so Father, for so it seems good in thy sight."

As a daughter she was dutiful and loving; as a sister, kind and affectionate; as a friend, true and constant. Possessed of rare intelligence and much amiability, she was the centre of many a joy, and the pride of many friends. In a few words she would have gone to the "eternal altar," there to assume the duties and the responsibilities of life for which she was so well qualified by nature and education. But man, like a pendulum, ever vibrates between a smile and a tear. It was otherwise determined in the high courts of Heaven, and she was summoned from the mortal coil to the "fruits of life," to join in the marriage supper of the Lamb.

With the family so deeply afflicted many have shed affectionate tears, and in their bereavement have felt an honest sympathy; for, when the young and the gifted, the beautiful and the good pass away, sorrow's gather on the heart as thick the dew along the flower. A loving daughter, and affectionate sister, a constant friend, she is sorely missed by the bereaved home, her spirit to mansion prepared where the weary are at rest.

Friends after friend departs.
The heart is not left behind;
There is a void where once he dwelt,
That finds not here an end;
Were this frail world our final rest,
Living or dying none were blest.
Sept. 24th 1885. F.

Saluda Old Town Plantation.

THE subscriber wishing to confine his attention to a plantation in a different part of the State, desires to rent for next year, or lease for a series of years the above place, four miles below Chappell's Depot on the Edgfield side of Saluda River. It contains about 900 acres; of which about 400 acres are cleared upland, and 500 acres very superior and sale creek and river bottoms.

Before the year the usual crop of the place with twenty full hands was five bales of cotton to the hand and corn and bacon to sell.

To an approved tenant the terms will be made advantageous. The rent will either be a fixed sum, or a proportion of the crop; and the necessary corn, bacon, &c., for next years consumption may be had on the place. The use of stock (or its purchase) may also be arranged for.

Apply on the plantation.

4-4 WIDE, all wool and can be sold at a less price, wholesale or retail, than at any other house in the State. The attention of Wholesale dealers in particular is called to this advertisement. Stop at MARSHALL & BROS., and see for yourselves.

Sept. 6, 87-16.

Hardware.

WE have on hand a large Stock of Hardware, consisting of many articles which are quite necessary for building, and as we wish to carry on the Dry Goods business exclusively, we will sell off the entire stock at as low a figure as they can be laid down here from New York.
